DATE: May 20, 2005

SUBJECT: 2005-2006 Title I, Part A, Improving the Academic Achievement of Disadvantaged Children and Youth, Request for Application

Recently, regional workshops were held by the Bureau of Student Assistance to provide training to school district representatives on the 2005-2006 On-Line Project Application Process for selected programs under No Child Left Behind. The on-line application is now available at: <http://data.fldoe.org/titelgrants/> .

We are pleased to provide you with the attached Request for Application (RFA) for the 2005-2006 Title I, Part A, Improving the Academic Achievement of Disadvantaged Children and Youth, which includes the grant overview, federal and fiscal requirements, and the application process. It is important to note that the project design part of the application requires each school district to describe measurable goals, objectives, and strategies, which identify how the funds will be used and how the project implementation will lead to increased student achievement.
