The Florida Department of Education has announced its plans for the 2011-2012 instructional materials

According to the Policies and Procedures for the Florida Instructional Materials Adoption, the Florida adoption is limited to instructional materials that meet the definition of "major tool" and accompanying "ancillary materials" as follows:

"Major tool" refers to:

- Materials that provide instructional content and student learning activities for each of the Next Generation Sunshine State Standards (NGSSS) benchmarks that are in the course descriptions for reading, language arts, literature, math, science, social studies, physical education, health, world languages, visual arts, and performing arts;
- Materials that provide instructional content and student learning activities for each of the intended outcomes and/or student performance standards of the Career and Technical Education Curriculum Frameworks;
- Materials that provide instructional content and student learning activities for the course objectives as outlined by the appropriate organizations for Advanced Placement, International Baccalaureate, and Advanced International Certificate of Education.

Dr. Eric J. Smith Commissioner of Education

"Ancillaries" are those items that were designed to work with the major tool and may be priced or free with order.

Social Studies instructional materials must be submitted in an electronic format that enables the user (teacher or student) to search for, gather, and organize specific standards-based instructional content by the Florida benchmark code. The Department's expectation is for digital unbundled content to be available at a reduced cost. Text only or .PDF versions of print-based submissions are not considered interactive digital content.
